

Constructing an explanation

Use the diagram to construct an explanation of why the Sun sets in the West and rises in the East each day. Your explanation should refer to the diagram.

When you have finished compare your explanation with the person next to you. Decide which is better and why.

